

HOW A NIGHT COMES TOGETHER

1 A host casts their night

A supper club wants a solo guitarist; a market night wants a DJ. They find you in the directory — or the ask lands in your inbox.

2 You accept or counter

The terms show your exact take-home before you say yes. Counter with your rate; the app carries the negotiation.

3 Play the night

Doors, set times, and who's who — all on the event page, built from what was booked.

4 Paid in one settlement

No chasing the organizer at midnight. Reviews from the crowd land on your profile.

The honesty rule

A night that doesn't reach its threshold simply rests: every guest is refunded in full, automatically, and nobody owes anybody. The app says it plainly: "Didn't come together."

THE WAY IT WORKS TODAY

Your gigs come from DMs, luck, and a promoter's memory. Your press kit is a link nobody opens, and getting paid is its own gig.

What changes with XLNT

Your profile is your EPK — and it books

Sets, clips, photos, and night-by-night reviews in one page. Hosts browse, listen, and send real invitations with real dates.

Terms in writing, every time

Rate, set length, answer-by date — frozen when you accept. Counter with your own rate if theirs is low. No handshake amnesia.

Reputation that travels

Every night you play adds a verified review to one portable record. Your third year on the platform sells your fourth.

WHY THIS IS DIFFERENT

Not another listing site

XLNT runs the whole night — the demand, the booking, and the money between — in one community app.

~~GigSalad & agencies broker you~~

XLNT is a community you're part of — hosts are neighbors, not one-time buyers.

~~Instagram shows your reach~~

XLNT shows your reviews from real rooms — proof, not vibes.

~~Booking fees hide in quotes~~

8% supplier fee, published. "You receive $1,104" is written on the offer.

Demand before risk — for everyone

Nights launch only when enough neighbors have backed them and paid. Hosts stop gambling; you cook, pour, play, and park against real numbers.

Reputation that compounds locally

Every night adds verified reviews to one portable record. In a county-first community, your last event markets your next one.
