

HOW A NIGHT COMES TOGETHER

- 1 List each room once
Ballroom, boardroom, terrace — capacity, layouts, rates, available dates.
- 2 Accept events with numbers attached
Every request shows committed backing and your exact payout before you answer.
- 3 Host with details handled
Run-of-show, guest list, vendor lineup — on the event page; your banquet team just executes.
- 4 One settlement, next morning
Itemized payout; reviews build each room's record.

The honesty rule

A night that doesn't reach its threshold simply rests: every guest is refunded in full, automatically, and nobody owes anybody. The app says it plainly: "Didn't come together."

THE WAY IT WORKS TODAY

Your banquet space earns on Saturdays and sleeps the rest of the week. Leads are feast-or-famine, and small events cost more to chase than they pay.

What changes with XLNT

Mid-week rooms, pre-paid

Supper clubs, tastings, morning workshops — community events land on dates weddings never take, attendance captured first.

The event arrives produced

Caterer cast, entertainment booked, guests committed. Your team provides the room and the polish — not the production.

Group business that finds you

A media-rich profile per room — capacities, layouts, reviews from real events — bookable without an RFP cycle.

WHY THIS IS DIFFERENT

Not another listing site

XLNT runs the whole night — the demand, the booking, and the money between — in one community app.

~~Wedding platforms sell you leads~~

XLNT delivers booked events — the guests exist before the date holds.

~~RFPs take weeks and die quietly~~

Requests carry dates, budgets, and answer-by deadlines.

~~Group commissions hide above 10%~~

8%, published, net-first on every request.

Demand before risk — for everyone

Nights launch only when enough neighbors have backed them and paid. Hosts stop gambling; you cook, pour, play, and park against real numbers.

Reputation that compounds locally

Every night adds verified reviews to one portable record. In a county-first community, your last event markets your next one.
