

HOW A NIGHT COMES TOGETHER

- 1 List what you offer
The room, the kitchen, a set menu, a chef's counter — with pricing, capacity, and available nights.
- 2 Accept nights that fit
A takeover Tuesday, a paired dinner Monday. Terms frozen, your net stated, calendar yours.
- 3 The night runs itself
Guests arrive with named seats; the event page carried the details; your staff pours.
- 4 Settle and repeat
One itemized settlement. Reviews build your room's reputation as a venue, not just a menu.

The honesty rule

A night that doesn't reach its threshold simply rests: every guest is refunded in full, automatically, and nobody owes anybody. The app says it plainly: "Didn't come together."

THE WAY IT WORKS TODAY

Your room earns nothing four nights a week. Buyout inquiries go nowhere, takeover chefs are hard to vet, and events are a second job.

What changes with XLNT

Two offerings, one profile

List your kitchen (menus, chef's dinners) and your space (buyouts, takeovers) — separately priced, separately bookable.

Pre-paid rooms on your dark nights

Supper clubs and chef takeovers land on the nights you'd be closed — headcount committed and captured before you turn the lights on.

Vetted collaborators

Every chef, musician, and organizer carries night-by-night reviews. See who you're hosting before you say yes.

WHY THIS IS DIFFERENT

Not another listing site

XLNT runs the whole night — the demand, the booking, and the money between — in one community app.

~~Reservation platforms fill seats~~

XLNT fills nights — whole-room events with the money handled end to end.

~~Venue marketplaces list your room~~

XLNT produces in it: talent, tickets, escrow, and settlement included.

~~Private dining leads are tire-kickers~~

Here the deposit is captured before the date is yours to hold.

Demand before risk — for everyone

Nights launch only when enough neighbors have backed them and paid. Hosts stop gambling; you cook, pour, play, and park against real numbers.

Reputation that compounds locally

Every night adds verified reviews to one portable record. In a county-first community, your last event markets your next one.
