

HOW A NIGHT COMES TOGETHER

- 1 A neighbor floats "Paired: five courses, five wines"
Locals back it and vote the pairings. You watch demand gather before committing anything.
- 2 You're cast, terms in writing
Pour fee, bottle minimums, headcount range, answer-by date — agreed in-app, frozen at booking.
- 3 The night launches when it's real
Seats confirm, payment captures, doors open. If it doesn't come together, nobody owes anybody.
- 4 One settlement, next morning
Your payout lands itemized. Reviews from the actual guests join your profile.

The honesty rule

A night that doesn't reach its threshold simply rests: every guest is refunded in full, automatically, and nobody owes anybody. The app says it plainly: "Didn't come together."

THE WAY IT WORKS TODAY

You pour for walk-ins and hope. Wine dinners take weeks to organize, and an empty event costs you staff, open bottles, and a quiet room.

What changes with XLNT

Demand before you open a bottle

Nights are proposed and backed by locals first. You say yes to events with committed headcounts — never to a gamble.

Wine dinners without the production

Get cast alongside local chefs and musicians. Pairing dinner, harvest night, barrel tasting — the app handles invites, seats, and money.

Your winery becomes a destination

A media-rich profile — your room, your labels, your reviews from real nights — that books directly. No website update ever again.

WHY THIS IS DIFFERENT

Not another listing site

XLNT runs the whole night — the demand, the booking, and the money between — in one community app.

~~Eventbrite sells your tickets~~

XLNT proves demand first — then sells, then produces, then settles.

~~Tasting-room platforms book pours~~

XLNT books experiences: your room, a chef, a string trio, one night.

~~Agencies take 15–20%, opaquely~~

Our supplier fee is 8%, published, and your net is always shown first.

Demand before risk — for everyone

Nights launch only when enough neighbors have backed them and paid. Hosts stop gambling; you cook, pour, play, and park against real numbers.

Reputation that compounds locally

Every night adds verified reviews to one portable record. In a county-first community, your last event markets your next one.
